

VACANCY : Team Member Manufacturing

About De Bruyn NV

De Bruyn Coating is a strongly growing and creative organisation that is active in protecting and providing colour to the products of our clients. Our clients are typically industrial companies working in construction, machine building, transport etc. Already over 37 years, we built a very good reputation in Belgium and abroad.

Working at De Bruyn means collaboration, accepting challenges, continuous learning, seizing opportunities, come up with solutions and continuously trying to do better and smarter. This you will do with the rest of the 20 people team..

At this moment we have a vacancy in our team for :

Team member manufacturing (38h)

What is this job about ?

The team of allround manufacturing makes sure that the specialists in sandblasting or painting continuously get the products in the right order and in the right way. This in order to treat them in an efficient and right way. The team also wraps the products once the treatment process is over and makes sure that all necessary information is registered correctly.

What are the responsibilities?

- Inform yourself thoroughly about what needs to be done with each product
- Prepare the products and attach them to the manufacturing line
- Degrease and grind the products
- Wrap the finished products to avoid damaging the paint during transport
- Measure and register the quality parameters in the IT system
- Help cleaning and maintaining machines and shop floor.

What do we offer you ?

- Balanced salary package in line with your experience and capabilities
- Trainings
- A nice team to work with
- Flexible hour scheme
- The right tools and working clothes

This role requires :

- A lot of desire to do this job both qualitatively and output wise
- Desire to learn via trainings and direct on the job feedback
- Willingness to contribute yourself to the improvements in the company

Are these your qualities ?

- Preferrably some experience but this is not a must
- Being accurate
- Good physical health
- Being able to work in a team in a constant pace
